The Clarke Yearbook gets a new beginning

The "Crusader" yearbook got a start again after nearly 20 years with Clarke having no yearbook.

The efforts for the yearbook began with Shane Lyon who contacted members of the administration and Jostens yearbook company.

Over 200 Clarke students showed an interest in the yearbook and 50 in helping out. After school was out 160 books were ordered and five members helped put out this first yearbook of nearly 20 years.

Walden Society

Starts over with a new beginning

Walden Society was established on the Clarke Campus in January 1990 by former administrator representative Jeff Pappas. After a one semester lull it was revitalized by Kent Anderson, assistant professor of philosophy, who hopes it will some day be student run. Presently there are approximately 20 students, faculty and staff who attend the forty minute lunch discussions.

What is Walden Society? It is a group where students and faculty can speak their minds uningibitedly. Between 1845 and 1847, Henry David Thoreau went to Walden Pond "to front only the essential facts of life." With that in mind, Walden Society has as one of its missions the goal to front the essential facts of life which presently plague our society. One example of this is a subject that spanned two meetings- freedom of speech.

Walden is an opportunity for people to express their point of view, learn from others opinions and integrate the forty minute experience into their lives hopefully making each individual a little more open minded and a lot more accepting of each others. Jeff Schmitt, junior, said, "Walden is a place for building bridges to facilitate friendship and community."

Walden will bloom and grow, it is a necessary outlet for voices that would otherwise get lost in the crowd. As time goes on the topics will get tougher and the discussions more heated, tempers may flare but passivity will die. For that is what is needed in today's world, people who are willing to break the bonds of the '80s in protest for what he or she feels is unjust. Walden will continue to educate people about people.

CAST members give tours of the campus to future students, bring them to meetings with administration, faculty or staff, take them to meals, house them for weekends and help with the larger weekends sponsored by Admission like Fall Open House and Sneak Preview.

Student Leader for CAST was Eric Duray, student co-ordinator for weekends was Brad Florence and Tracy Virgil, admissions representative was the overseer of CAST.

As a former president of Math Club and former and current president of Computer Club, I have seen both the Math Club and Computer Club experience many changes over the past two years. When Math Club was formed in the fall of 1989 and its officers elected, its structure and constitution were very similar to the Computer Club. Both the Computer Club and Math Club drafted constitutions and were chartered by the Clarke Student Association. The purpose of both organizations is to raise awareness in people that these are not subjects foreign to everyday situations. They use math and/or computer-related activities to show that math and computers can be fun, or at least useful.

Math Club has sponsored many activities both for members and for the Clarke community. They sponsor movie nights, with math-related movies of course. There is a monthly problem contest for Math Club members where the correct results are placed into a drawing for a prize. Trips have been taken to Pi Mu Epsilon, a math honor society, conferences for students to present papers or just listen to speakers or other students. The Math Club held a Mastermind tournament.

Computer Club is a student chapter for the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) which is an industry-wide organization for computer people.

Membership for 1990-91 is about 20 for Math Club and 30 in Computer Club. We try to keep both clubs fun but semi-instructional. We are open to suggestions for events all of the time and very flexible to the desires of our membership.

Campus

Campus Ministry offers a wide variety of activities and events for students, faculty and staff to get involved in to help develop their faith life and also to build as a community.

Masses were offered at 11 a.m. Sundays and weekly at 12:30 p.m. They were also offered on Holy Days of Obligation and special masses as Foundress Day, Oxfam Fast, Christmas and Graduation.

To be a part of these masses, one can participate as a liturgical musician or singer, Eucharistic minister, lector, hospitality, bread baker or liturgy planning. The liturgy planning team meets with Fr. John Nauman and S. Kathy Carr to decide the focus for mass. Carr and Jeff Pappas select the music. The spiritual ministries for the Clarke community include prayer group, retreats and reflection evenings. Volunteer activities include service trips to Appalachia and Washington D.C., teaching C.C.M. and visiting the elderly at Mt. Carmel. Campus Ministry also provides personal counseling to answer questions or doubts in faith and helping students who have experienced a death in the family.

Ministry

Special activities, such as the hayride and bonfire, and the St. Nick's Party help to build community within the college.

Peace with Justice works through campus ministry and is coordinated by Francine Banwarth. Its activities include: Peace with Justice Week, Oxfam Fast, Unicef and Global Awareness Week.

The campus ministry works with the Clarke Student Minority Organization on racial issues on campus and with Amnesty International, which sends letters to governments that are unjust in prisoning their civilians.

Carr said, "I enjoy my position because it is always changing and it involves me directly in the lives of students, faculty and staff." Lisa Beauvais, member of the prayer group, said, "When things aren't going well and I need to relax, and when I want to share my happiness with others, prayer group is a very supportive outlet for my feelings." by Shana Richardson

Any student with a love for music could participate in Clarke's choirs this year; the Clarke Collegiate Singers or the Chapel Choir, under direction of Jeffrey Pappas.

The singers performances included the Clarke Singers and Clarke-Loras singers concert during Homecoming weekend in honor of John Lease's 25th Anniversary; a Christmas Concert held on November 29 in the Jansen Music Hall and December 2 at St. Raphael's Cathedral; the choir tour from January 24 to 29 and the dinner pops concert, which was held in April.

The collegiate singers included: Lisa Beauvais, Sean Berg, Kelly Berning, Donald Clark, Jr., Jennifer Deacon, Marilee Dean, Dan Dettbarn, Frank Dodds, Angelique Doolittle, Debrah Duffy, Christopher Dwane, Amy Edgar, Laura Fautsch, Laura Gau, Jacquelyn Hawkings, Angie Hefel, Steven Hill, Paul Huck, Toyoaki Ishigami, Lisa Klavitter, Jennifer Lease, Jim Lease, Lisa Lenstra, Beth Mann, Nancy McNee, Joel Moore, Kara Plemel, Christopher Schueller, Diane Sheets, Deborah Smith, Larry Tillotson, Anthony Voss, Christina Wagner, Mara Wasmundt, Steve Zieser and Dan Clark.

Zieser said, "It is a good way to stress my abilities as a vocalist, it teaches me discipline and it is helping me to improve my art." Hawkings said, "The Clarke Singers is a very positive group of people and we work hard to meet the goals Jeff has set. Jeff is a good conductor, he works hard but we have fun. We are a young group but that leaves us room to grow to be the best we can be."

The Chapel Choir sang at Sunday and Holy Day masses. Their main performances were on Homecoming and Christmas Mass.

The Chapel Choir included: Rachel Boll, Jennifer Deacon, Takada Dixon, Patty Mayer, Meghan Mc Carthy, Christine Noel, Shana Richardson, Karrie Schloemer, Cindy Tan, Tara Thames, Holly Vote and Joelle Zemaitis.

Schloemer enjoys the choir because of "the different music we sing and it challenges me. I also enjoy the company of everyone in Chapel Choir." by Shana Richardson

Tuckpointers help freshmen begin at Clarke

Important roles of student life on campus include resident assistants and Tuckpointers. These leaders help with dorm life and they help to acquaint the freshmen with the school.

Tuckpointers are those associated with helping freshmen adjust to college life. Their duties include helping freshmen move in, separating into groups and participating in activities during orientation, answering questions and concerns about college life and optional freshman seminar leaders.

As a seminar leader, a tuckpointer gets together with an assigned faculty freshman advisor. This class is required for the first eight weeks of the semester and is divided into different groups and various times.

To apply for the tuckpointer position applicants fill out applications and attend group and individual interviews. Hunter feels that outgoing freshmen and those willing to lead seminar make the best candidates.

This year's tuckpointers were: Dawn Bauer, Renee Schriner, Colleen Ihm, Jackie Hawkins, Jody Justesen, Lisa Hogan, Izzy Herrera, Jennifer Coby, Cris Wagner, Rhonda Weaver, Stacie Kagan, Liz Klinger, Tom Pernecke, Victor Stribling, Curt Ehlinger, Jerry Tomasic, Brad Florence, Steve Zieser, Antoine Jones, Shawn Zepper, Eric Duray and Bruce Kramer.

Klinger loved being a tuckpointer. "It was really fun." Weaver had fun as a freshman seminar leader because, "We got to know the freshmen more personally, share college experiences and explain why rules of the college exist. I worked with Eric and Jeff Pappas; working with another student gave us a chance to lead seminar and working with a faculty member gave us more insight. Our group had a chance to become close and make friendships out of it."

Before beginning these positions, RAs and tuckpointers are required to attend a three-day camp training session at Camp Little Cloud. They attended numerous meetings to learn about their duties as well as how to work as a team.

CLOSING

The 1990-91 Crusader yearbook was produced by a volunteer staff at Clarke College. The cover is Fineline in Blue Kivar #546 with a Yellow #339 silkscreen of the Clarke Crusader. Binding of the book is Smyth Sewed. The endsheets are white.

Black ink was used as a base throughout the book with New Century Schoolbook as a consistent typeface. Body copy was set in 10 point type and captions were set in eight point type. Paper was 70# glossy.

Underclass photos were taken through the Student Affairs and Senior portraits were taken by Weber Studio in Dubuque.

One-hundred sixty copies of 68 pages were ordered in seven and three-quarters by ten and one-half inch format.
